The undersigned begs to call from the highly respected community of this city and the country, that he has established an

INK MANUFACTORY,

No. 50, Calle 25 de Mayo.

And is prepared to sell a good Ink, as any made in any part of the globe, and warranted to turn its beautiful jet black color which it has at present when used, at 50 p% less than the same can be bought at any other house.

People under the impression that they pay their $80 more for a quart bottle of English Ink, can have the same prepared, drawing out what is called for English, made in this country, and supplied upon the premises as such. But I am not ashamed to put my own Name on the labels, being fully convinced that my Ink is of a much superior quality, and no cases more certain than those of the Ink.

I—It is of a very rich black at the moment when used.

II.—Is of a fine color.

III—Is durable after the pen.

IV.—A preservative of the eyes to those who have much to write at night, because they need not to force their eyesight, to see what they have written.

For the reasons explained, I hope that my publick generally will entertain a general Home consumption will be laid aside, and that I ask is, to try the same which will be a benefit to the country, to the country, to assist my Home Industry.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 25, 1868.

RIVADAVIA STATION.

When Mr. Zimmerman displayed such a very bad taste in effacing our oubriquet of "Gringo" from the t eam locomotive of the Northern railway we attributed his officiousness to a mis-directed regard for the sensitive feelings of foreigners. He has, however, lately been guilty of a piece of flunkeyism, which is equally devoid of puerility or excuse in the history of railways, throughout the Globe. We are anxious to flatter national vanity or all occasions, we admire the system of dedicating public monuments to the illustrious dead; but there are limits to state sycophancy and posthumous memorials, and the unmeaning idea of perverting railway stations into only be regarded as a new manner of "bamboozling" travellers.

The Belgrano station received a new appellation in compliment to Rivadavia, although that distinguished legislator had already given name to two bridges, and an infinity of streets in the county towns. We were not aware that it was a mere freak of enthusiasm, which would form a solitary exception in railway nomenclature, to passed it over in silence. Now the second station (Medrano) is baptised by the name of Rivadavia, who, by the by, had no possible connection with Whisky squints, and Pulque de Ybanez. The martyr-exile of Cadiz, if he could raise from his mausoleum in the Recoleta, would be rather surprised to find himself associated with railways, of which he never even dreamed. Hence the appellation is very badly chosen.

If it is necessary to do these enterprises of progress with the names of distinguished Argentines, we have not the least objection to call the locomotives, waggons, and smoking-saloons after them, but the inconvenience and confusion arising from a number of names is already beginning to be felt. The Northern time-table calls the second station Belgrano, while the traveller cannot obtain a ticket for that ticket office, and if he means to go on to Medrano, he must be further indoctrinated in the outlandish vocabulary which says the latter station is Rivadavia. Of course the next point will be called Winnebay, instead of Los Olivos, and so on until we know not where we stop, and the proverb will gain additional force in Spanish "Adonde vamos a parar ?"

Without considering the bad taste of throwing away such pretty and historic names as Belgrano, Medrano, &c., we may glance at the result of extending this system to intermediate i. e. Western and Southern railways. A passenger taking his ticket for Mercedes must learn to ask for a first-class to Azoata or Dominguez, and instead of riding to San Vicente or Chascomus he will say he is making an euphonious trip to Varela or Monteagudo.

By and by the railway station will become like M. Dumesnil's gallery of Argentine celebrities, without, however, such characters as Pepe de la Cruces and others of this stamp immortalized by the photographic biographer. When the stations become too few for the great men of the past and rising generations, the signal posts will be consecrated to the same purpose, and railway guards will exclaim at intervals "Alsina looks blue!" "Sarfield has an arm up" "Acosta's leg's moving" "Varela has a cold in the head" "Montevideo is all right" &c. &c.

In this manner such names will fall into that familiarity which is said to breed contempt. Much better for Argentines to eschew railway notoriety, imitating English customs, and calling stations by their proper names. Columbus immortalised his name by the discovery of America; but Mr. Zimmerman's invention will only have the effect of perpetuating his memory as the patentee of a system which outdoes ministerial flunkeyism with "tricks upon travellers."

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The poor nuisance on the Molehead is becoming truly alarming. The dangers of a trip up the river, or a voyage to Europe, are as nothing to the peril of landing on the mole-ends with a hand-box or carpet bag. Only the other day there was a scrimmage which resulted in the owner of a dispatch being pitched into the water, and an athletic peon carrying off the unfortunate man's property to the custom-house inspector's office. Luckily, the newly arrived passenger was picked up in time to save his life, but the poor man's indignation at being so treated, at the moment of landing in the New World, knew no bounds. He probably regretted that he left the Bas Pyrenees, where such outrageous conduct is unknown.

Although we regret to say the same unfeeling of passengers is not confined to Buenos Ayres, still we hope to see the Captain of the Port introduce some regulation by which guests will be at least properly tied to land without risk to life or limb.

The inhabitants of Uruguay have been frightened by what is termed in Montevideo the wing. A cyclone which hovered about the town, and ultimately took the direction of San José.

Our colleage, the Tribuna, will be enlarged on the 1st April. They are getting up their new press, so we may look out for a stupendous morning sheet on All Fools' day.

We call attention to the advertisement of the Ro th, British and Mercantile Insurance Company, which we can only be regarded as a new manner of "bamboozling" travellers. policies are issued on goods in the Custom house and elsewhere, also on buildings of every description. With this company insurance we will run for this city, it is unnecessary to call attention to the increasing danger of fires in Buenos Ayres. Gas, Kerosene and Spirit Stoves, have of late been largely introduced amongst us. Insurance companies, as a necessary consequence, must follow in their wake. So long as Buenos Ayres is destitute of a good supply of water, so long is the fire-bell a subject of dread to us all. It has been proved over and over again, that fire cannot be extinguished in Buenos Ayres: a house once in flames must burn down. With such staring facts as a matter of experience to show few insurers for their properties.

Trade auctions of dry goods are attended by numerous people who have to regard them as forcing the market, and ultimately calculated to do serious injury to the importers. The result of such sales we have always found unfavorable, as many indiscriminate sales must necessarily be effected.

We have had a taste of another and large dry goods auction, which will probably be the largest of the season, as the assortment is considerable. The auctioneer is a man of business, and the owners of Registros, whose shelves are already for the most part heavily stocked.

The works of the Boca railway are actively prosecuted by some 40 labourers, which shews a commendable activity on the part of the contractor. The sand between Medrano and Olivos is also an animated scene, and we expect shortly to realize the promised trip to pueblo Mitre.

There are many surmises respecting the "Campero," some think that she is intended for fresh water, and then be handed over to our friend Mr Dowse.

To-day being a holiday, many will take a trip to Belgrano to inhale the fresh air: let us recommend Mr. Denson's hotel in the town, and M. Chambion's along side the station, as pleasant and reasonable restaurants where good fare may be had at fair prices.

Mr Negrotto, whose school is close to the Western Railway, as qualifies us to the rapidity of his educational system, invites all friends, parents and admirers, to the examinations, and those anxious to profit by an idle day may amuse themselves by listening to the Romans, countrymen and lovers, or admiring the precocity of juveniles in conjugating the verb "to love."

MONTEVIDEO.

The French residents are getting up a subscription for their distressed countrymen and wives, and Signor Scally, the wrestler, is playing at San Felipe. The Ocean Circus invited the orphans of the city to a free exhibition on Sunday night. The drama at Solis was suspended, owing to the arrangements for lighting that theatre not being completed. The Lavarden y has certified 425 matriculations for the current year. The mortality list for Friday and Saturday only gives 6 deaths.

A mayoral of the Mercedes diligence lost 100 doubloons on the road. The Espiguel v is advertised to run from Montevideo to Colonia in conjunction with the Villa Salto to Montevideo. Ex commissary Garcia and Ensign Sosa, condemned to 3 years imprisonment for the murder of one Borjes in Tacuarembó, have been discharged, on appeal from that sentence. Mr. Salter, Pilot, Isle, and Mercator from Cadiz, with salt. The Pyrmont from N. York and Oceon Pavorite from Portland with timber: the Union Hermitted from Rotterdam, and Courier from Antwerp with hardware, and the Revenal from Liverpool, with coal, arrived on Sunday.

THE BANK STATEMENT.

Without professing any extraordinary friendship for the Casa de Moneda, we must call attention to the great regularity with which it publishes its monthly statements. The returns for the month of February are before us.

We have no wish to make invidious comparisons or pull asunder the figures, but we regard it as important that particular notice should be taken of some items. We begin at the bottom.

Deposit on interest	$277,901,192 m/c
Do without	30,008,074

The deposits on specie bearing a striking contrast to the above figures.

Deposits on interest	1,493,254,240 oz. gold.
Do without do.	1,484,401 do.

As many people may be ignorant of what constitutes deposits without interest, we may state that purchases by government deposits, money paid in by order of Court &c.

The discounts during the month appear very limited $900 5,961 m/c, and 33,411, 74 silver dollars, whilst the amount of money on bills &c, seem exceedingly small, the former being one mpe, besides 2,961,499.78 silver dollars.

When we take into consideration the immense amount of business also transacted by the Casa de Moneda or Bank, one feels startled at the legion of bills, promissary notes, mortgages &c, which must be outstanding.

Lastly we have observed that there is scarcely a house in this city upon which a mortgage has not been effected.

The Bank has remitted to Europe in the month of February 7 463,3 silver dollars, what this money was sent for we are at a loss to conjecture, it is far too paper to make new notes. The deposits for the month are 283,727,360 m/c, and in specie 1,484,401, silver dollars and 60 gold.

The amount paid to the shareholders of the Western railways Co, is 11,023, 000, which has been of the greatest service to the public, as this amount has been locked up for years in an investment which has not even paid the interest upon the capital sunk.

The item of general expenses seems heavy, over 250,000 dollars may be considered for one month, connected with what truth we know not the clerks of the Bank are the worst paid in town, but we cannot believe such a statement as that made at the petty cash-up. for February.

As an institution possessing more influence than any other commercial establishment in Buenos Ayres, we consider it but self,it behoves us all to watch the Bank and peruse carefully these monthly statements, not with any hostile view, but solely with a desire to remedy if possible the precarious position of our money-market.

Before we close, we are willing to admit it doing its best to steady the market, it deserves every praise for helping to establish the currency of foreign coins, but notwithstanding all it has done, we object to it on principle. Monopolies and fiscal privileges are contrary to the true spirit of Republicanism and therefore abolished, we advocate a free banking system, it is the safest and the best in the long run. A Bank should stand on its own bottom, and not be a resistance to Government props, or invidious priorities.

FO EIGN COINS.

BANK AND MINT ESTABLISHME T.

The Bank Directors in to-day's sea sion have ordered the following

Art. 1st. Every deposit made at Bank in specie before the 20th inst: shall be paid in the coin in which it was made.

EXECUTION OF INDIANS.

The Mankato, Minnesota, Record brings us full details of the execution of thirty-seven Indians at that place, by order of President Lincoln. The great was the excitement in the vicinity and so large the crowd of spectators flocking to the scene, that martial law was declared as early as Wednesday. On Monday, before the execution, Colonel Miller read to the condemned the death warrant of the President. The Record says:—The occasion was one of much solemnity to the persons present, though but very little sound in was manifested by the Indians. A half-breed named Milford seemed much depressed in spirits. All listened attentively, and upon the conclusion of each sentence indulged their usual grunt or signal of approval At the reading of that portion of the warrant condemning them to be hanged by the necks the sensation was quite feeble, and was given by two or three. Several Indians smoked their pipes composedly during the reading. The most conspicuous character, who when the time of execution was designated, quietly knocked the ashes from his pipe and filled it afresh with his favourite Kinnekinick; while another was slowly rubbing a pipe full of the same article in his hand preparatory to a good smoke. Just before the execution, the Indians were conversed with as to their past crimes and coming deaths. Some of them were much affected, and many of them contested their innocence, saying that they had been falsely accused, or misunderstood in their words. It appeared that the guilty had generally escaped, while they relying upon their innocence had been left to die. The general impression among the Indians was that they were compelled in order to save their own lives to accompany their chief in his attacks upon the whites, and of course were innocent. It is said that during these statements, confessions and denials, they were generally calm and collected, but at times quite excited. They were immediately checked by others, and told that they were all dead men and there was no reason why they should not die like men. Many of them have indicted letters to their friends, in which they say that they are very dear to them, but that they are about to die, and bid them not to cry or change their dress for them. Some of them say they expected to go and dwell with the great Spirit, and expressed a hope that their friends will all join them. On Tuesday evening they extemporized a dance with a wild Indian song. It is said there was much fun in the prayer for something else which might be attempted, and their chains were therefore allowed to be taken off. It seems, however, rather probable that they were only singing their death song. On Wednesday, each Indian was given the privilege of allowing him to send for two or three of his relatives or friends confined in main prison for the purpose of bidding them a final farewell and to carry such messages to absent relatives as each person might be disposed to send. Major Brown was present during the interview and describes them as very sad and affecting.

Each Indian had a new word to send his parents to convey. Others spoke of their wives and children. Almost every one was effected to tears. On Thursday evening we paid a brief visit to the condemned prisoners in their cells. The Catholic ministers were baptizing a number. All the prisoners seemed resigned to their fate, and were much depressed in spirit. Many were perfectly motionless, and more like statues than living men. Others were keenly interested in the ceremony of baptism. The gallows, constructed of heavy square timbers, is located on the west opposite the headquarters. It is 44 feet square, in a form of a hollow square, and is 20 feet high. The drop is built by a large rope, attached to a pole in the centre of the frame. We visited the prisoners in their cell an hour before the execution. Their arms were pinioned, and they wanted not all wore blankets or shawls over their shoulders. They were seated on the floor, composedly awaiting the appointed hour. They seemed cheerful, occasionally smiling or conversing together. The last hour was occupied by Father Ravoux in the religious service; the prisoners followed him in prayer. Their time was thus occupied until the hour of execution. Captain Lum was in charge of the day, and officer of the guard. Captain G. D. Redfield, Provost Marshal, at seven, a.m., promptly escorted all persons from the room of the sentenced convicts, and having unmanacled the prisoners pinioned, their arms and upper segment thereof with a cord. They were passed through the guard-room, and at the gallows delivered to the officer of the day. They were conducted by the guard reliefs, unarmed, under direction of Captain Redfield, to the scaffold, between two files of soldiers stationed on the right. The officer of the day received the convicts at the scaffold Eight men were then seated on the platform of the drop, the culprits all the while continuing their sing. When all was ready, Major Brown, signal officer, burst three distinct taps on the drum. At the third stroke William J. Duly, of the mounted scouts, cut the rope, the drop fell, and the 38 savage murderers were launched into eternity.—New York Journal of Commerce, Jan 5.

ODDS AND ENDS.

The colony of Queensland at its present rate of increase, will double its population in less than four years.

The kilted Highland regiments are for the future wear the Glengarry bonnet, shell jacket, of blue cloth, and ribbon attached to the back of the cap, which will have a silk rosette and a gimentail pendant hanging on the offside.

A SWIMMING CORPS.—One of the Confederate regiments in the battle of Murfreesborough was raised in Mississippi by the late ex Governor Pettus, H. Clarke. Colonel Clarke, when erecting his regiment, was obliged to conceal himself by day, work at night in the woods. He gave to each man, a whole, 1,080, across the Mississippi river—a mile and quarter wide, and at the time full of floating ice.

The "Levant Herald" says the late Pasha of Egypt had suffered himself to be invigled into subscribing funds for the enormous sum of £3,750,000, on behalf of the people of the whole extent of the company. Of this sum only about £6,000 has, it is said, been paid up, and this only in Treasury bonds. The majority has now arrived, when M Lesseps can shift upon the Government of Egypt the liability for the unpaid calls the upon the shares subscribed for by the public, to the extent capacity of the late Viceroy.

Several alarming cases of poisoning by milk have recently occurred at Mallow, Cork, and Dublin. The effects produced, but the symptoms are most alarming Among the sufferers were General Bell and Mr. Spencer, who partook of a supper at Grome. Bell's Times says:—The private attributes it to the grass browsed on a particular plant known to botanists as the cicuta virosa, or bubinerce, or sygewarts, which, they say, possesses the property of rendering the milk poisonous to human beings, although it produces no such injury on the animal itself. On the other hand we have heard the popular belief ridiculed by many of the first chemists in these physicians, although we must confess we never could perceive upon what grounds. The cover will be considered a searching inquiry into the matter."

JOHN MITCHEL AND HIS SONS We are sure the admirers of John Mitchel will be glad to hear that he and his sons are together in New York, possessed of the best of health: they are quite sanguine as to the favourable results of the enterprise which they have undertaken in America. Young Master William Mitchell, who accompanied his father from France to America was particularly noted in the battle of Tuscaloosa, and escaped without a scratch he held the rank of colour-corporal, and it has been presented to him and attached to his General's staff Mr. Mitchel himself was offered a position in the commissary department equivalent to that of major, which he declined. It is cheering to hear such good news of our friends. Would to Heaven that this unfortunate war was brought to a favourable close, so that they all would be union once more between the patriotic and high-souled sons of Erin. who are distinguishing themselves so gloriously under the Palmetto flag, the standard of the Stars and Stripes.—Dispensary Advocate.

MUSIC MADE EASY.—A Highlander, just learning a school to teach, inclined to crack his brains with the names of semibreves, minims, crotchets, and quavers. "Here, Donald," said he, "tak' yer pipes, lad, and gie us a blast.—So, verra weel b'awm, some tune that's short and quick, Donald, without sense? You may blaw for ever without making a tune o't, if I dinna tell you how how the queer things on the paper mean by every you. You see t at big fellow wi' a round, open face (pointing to a semibreve bet ween two lines of a bar). he moves slowly from that line to this, while ye bent awe wi, your fir-t. and gie a lang blast: if, now, ye but a leg to him, ye mak' t wo o' him, and he'll move twelve as fast as he did one. The black note has four times faster than the follow wi' the white face; but if, for this white face, ye but a bend his knee, or the his leg, he'll hop eight times faster than t e white-faced chap I showed you first. Now, whenever you blaw your pipes, Donal remember this—that the tighter those fellows' legs are tied the faster they'll run, and the quicker they're sure to dance."—The K g.

LOCAL EVENTS.

25th MARCH.—Yesday is a strict holiday, being the feast of the Annunciation, called in Spanish "Incarnacion," and known at home as Lady day. Rents fall due on this day, in the U. Kingdom, which is therefore an unwelcome date for half-yearly tenants.

MURATURI.—The remains of this heroic youth who fell victim to a mutiny on board the Pintos during the war of the Triple Alliance, were buried yesterday, with becoming dignity from the Merced church to the city necropolis.

CHANCERY.—There is a rumor current, that the G. Southern railway is in Chancery, which we hope is in fact, and wish to see contradicted by the resident Attorneys for the Co

Mr. HANLON of the flying trapeze is a countryman of Alfieri's The name and family are Hibernian, but he was born on the level sea bank in Ireland, the second hang a native of England, the third an American born The name is a Celtic one, and continued to the dist-inguished lesse of that name formerly director of the Co. ITALIAN HOSPITAL. The committe of management of this institution for the third or forth time are going to make a call on Italian residents for the support of their charitable institution and to ards the completion of the building,

A MILITARY COLLEGE.—Has been opened at Montevideo with 21 pupils, and had been closed for the last three years.

FIVE NEW ARTISTS.—Have arrived from Spain and been incorporated with the Italian Opera Co. they are only performing at present in Solis theatre at Montevideo.

THE ELECTIONS.—Are to take place on Sunday, no list has yet appeared in the papers of the list of the Buenos Ayres, although it is expected that such will be the case one or two days before.

THE BOCA.—On Friday an auction is to take place at calle Victoria 154 for 5 merino rams. 18 Negrette do and 7 ewes do, imported by the Dutch brig Hebe.

Though the British mail steamer advertises for this class of freight and we think there is more convenient to shippers, we have hitherto do not know of any imported by that conveyance.

ADVERTISEMENTS.—We are now pitining an extra sheet of new type to accommodate the Trade of he Handbook; so that parties wishing to secure a corner in this great work may send in their notices until Thursday noon.

DRAMATIC READINGS.—We understand an English gentleman is about to give Shakspearian readings at the Scotch school-room. A lecture will be given in the evening and form a series of literary entertainments much wanted in our society.

PHENYLINE AND TEREBANINE.—For application to veterinary purposes to be had of Mr. Weston money changer Plaza Victoria.

Yesterday we were struck by a descriptive treatise, on the application of this remedy for the following diseases.

Foot Rot in sheep
Bad character in cows
Grease in horses
Scab or mange
Sheep Dipping

We shall be happy to submit it to any of our subscribers desirous of inspecting it.

ON FRIDAY.—An important auction of dry goods will take place at the house of Mess. John Best and Bros by he auctioneer Mr. Thomas Gowland.

LATEST FROM THE UNITED STATES

(Seven days later than the Paebet.)

There has been a great battle fought on the Blackwater river in North Carolina, resulting in the route and retreat of the Southerners who had been driven back six miles. General Corcoran had a brilliant action with the Confederate chief Rogers, A. Pryor on the 29th Jan., and completely defeated him. The conflict took place at a point ten miles from Suffolk, and the battle opened by a sort of artillery duel by moonlight. After 2 hours firing the Southern artillery began to slacken, when Corcoran ordered a charge of his Infantry and cavalry. The enemy fell back before the impetuosity of the Irish troops, and after running for two miles made another stand, when the battle recommenced and lasted for hours. General Corcoran had a narrow escape from a shell which burst directly in front of him.

There is nothing new from the Rappahannock army. General Hooker held a flying visit to Washington.

The pirate or privateer Florida has made another capture. The ship Estelle, Mosley is in demand in New York's gold 160 exchange 177. Wool, tobacco, and tallow have gone up in value. Very heavy snow-storms have been experienced in the Northern States and Gen. Hooker could not move on account of the snow. Congress was still sitting, and was occupied greatly with the Slavery Compensation question.

Cotton is selling in New York at 96 cts per pound, and still looking Upward.

One gunboat, mounting 11 guns and carrying 280 men, was unconditionally surrendered to the Southerners on the Stone River.

A terrible row occurred on one of the Brooklyn ferry boats: a negro having insisted on his right to go into the ladies cabin, he was overcome, after a short struggle, and sent for trial.

Charles F. Krause sets teeth by a new system on amber, which is found superior to every other mode. It accommodates itself to the gums and preserves them from wasting away. Stopping of sets of teeth in a few hours and days, serves for mastication, speaking, and looks like gum. My calls out of artificial teeth is very fine, and cannot be distinguished from a natural set. I will also clean teeth with great care.

I have a number of instruments for extracting roots at a reasonable rate, and will also extract sound teeth, which I guarantee for a number of years.

COLEGIO ANGLO-PORTEÑO
205—CALLE MAYO—205
This school has been established several years, and is well known in this city.
No pains are spared to make this school as perfect as is attainable in the pupils, and the instruction itself profitable.
Patrons are respectfully invited to visit the school, and to note carefully the monthly reports of progress and deportment.
The English, Spanish, and French languages are carefully taught by skilful instructors, and every branch of useful or ornamental education may be prosecuted in either of these languages.
French and drawing are taught after school hours. Also an afternoon class for fancy work four times a week.
Day pupils can be received at any time, and a few could be accommodated as boarders or half-boarders.
Sept. 29th.
Jas. Smith, 205 Mayo,
Late of Rosario.
